Washington Knights Templar to Be Well Represented.

Four of the Five Subordinate Com. manderies Provided With Quarters-President Eckinley and Rear Admiral Schley Likely to Attend. Competitive Drill Arrangements,

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 16.-Washington will be more largely represented than any other city in the country at the twenty-eighth triennial conclave of the Knights Templar of America in Louisville, August 27 to 20 next. Out of five subordinate commandaries at the Capital quarters, and the Grand Commandery of he District of Columbia has also made ington, No. 2. and Columbia, No. 2. will each send delegations of seventy-five knights and ladies. Both of these comnanderies will be located at the Bailey House, corner Third and Walnut Streets. DeMolay, No. 4, will have quarters for thirty "swords" and ladles at Mrs. B. B. ressy's, on Fourth Avenue, between Chestnut and Broadway. Here DeMolay, which is the only mounted commandery Ladies' and Children's Legggins in all at Washington, will have headquarters, and keep "open house" during the entry and keep "open house" during the ent re week. Orient, No. 5, will occupy the entire residence of Mrs. Mary L. Neel, at 268 West Walnut Street, within a halfblock of where Washington and Columbia will be stationed, and only three blocks from DeMelay. It has arranged to bring seventy-five knights and their wives. The Grand Commandery secured rooms at the Galt House several months ago for the Rear Admiral Schley has accepted the nvitation of the Kentucky Knights to be heir guest during the triennial, if he is permitted to be "in our blessed Gods' country," as he puts it, during the fourth week next August, and as he has asked to Atlantic Squadron he will probably be one of Louisville's distinguished guests. He writes to the local committee from Montevideo, Uruguay, that he prefers to stop at a hotel while in the city, but this will not interfere with Columbia Commandery, No. 2, of Washington, of which he is a member, forming his escort from the Capital to the Falls City.

During the week a handsomely engross-l invitation was sent to President Me-inley urging him to attend the conclave. trip to Europe during the sammer pre-vents. With all of these prominent Knights in the city, with the other Tem-plars from the District of Columbia, Washington will play a leading part in the coming triennial washington will play a leading part in the coming triennial.

A letter was received today from Recorder W. Harry Alcott, of Orient Commandery, asking for the rules that have been issued for the competitive drills the second day of the conclave, stating that his commandery would probably enter the contest. There has also been some talk of De Molay competing for the grand prize for the mounted commandery. Five corps are already entered in the two drills—two from Scn Francisco, one from Pittsburg, one from Cincinnati, and one from Denver. Columbus, Ohio, which has a mounted and a foot squad will probably go in both drills, which will bring together some of the best Templar teams in the United States. For this event five handsome sterling silver trophies will be awarded the both drills, which will bring together some of the best Templar teams in the United States. For this event five handsome sterling silver trophies will be awarded the successful contestants. This will be the successful contestants. This will be the first competitive drill since the San Franchist Competitive drill since the first competitive drill since the San Francisco conclave in 1883, when the Grand Encampment, as a body, decided to discontinue them, because of the warmth of the contests. It was only with the special consent of the Grand Master, Most Eminent Str Reuthen Hedley Lloyd, of San Francisco, that the drills will be conducted at the Louisville conclave. The trophies to be given as prizes will be the handsomest ever offered on a similar occasion. Louisville is preparing to make the coming triennial the most successful in the history of Templarism, covering a period of over a century. Fifty committees are working on the preliminaries and a $100,000 entertainment fund has been raised to provide a programme of attractions never the residence. addroad were crippled all the morning, neluding the through trolley service from New Haven to Bridgeport.

The fire is suposed to have started room overheating due to friction in the dectrical machinery. It began about 7:30 'clock, At 8:30 the flames were believed, but the building was to be under control, but the building was gutted. The company hopes to be able to save most of its machinery. The losses will be at least $10,000.

KIDNAPED BY A VEILED WOMAN A Child Taken From Home After a Desperate Struggle.

FRANKFORT, Ind., Feb. 16.—Dale, the eve-year-old son of Tilghman Kingery, a wealthy retired farmer, was stolen from his father's home in Meadow Lawn, a sub urb of this city, shortly after noon yester-day. The kidnaping was accomplished only after a desperate struggle with the child's grandmother. The boy has not been re-

Kingery and his wife have lived apart for the last two years. His mother, aged sixty, has kept house for him. The cause

It is desired that members of the society and the general public occupy the second balcony during the sessions of February and the grandmother if Mr. Kingery was at home. She replied that he would not return until evening. He then turned and signaled to the woman in the buggy. She, closely veiled, walked up to the door, and both stepped inside. The veiled women saw the child in an adjoining room and saw the child in an adjoining room and started toward him, when the grandmother barred her way and demanded an explanation. The man then seized her, and a desperate struggle followed. The aged woman managed to break from the man's grasp, and, seizing a poker, dealt him a blow on the head. However, her strength was gone, and he easily bound and gagged her.

In the meantime the woman had throw In the meantime the woman had thrown a shawl over the child's head and carried him struggling to the buggy. The man jumped in and they drove rapidly away. Neighbors called at the Kingery home soon after and found the aged woman suffering from nervous shock, but able to tell the story of the kidnaping. A messenger was despatched for the father, and a posse started in pursuit of the abductors. Mr. Kingery is inclined to the belief that the veiled woman was his wife, but others think the boy was stolen in the hope of securing a large ransom.
